Category: Ice Breaker

Format: Virtual

Length of Activity: 10-15 minutes

Ideal Group Size: Any

Themes: Active Listening, Appreciation, Storytelling, Vulnerability

Tools Used: Paper & Pen, Breakouts

Description: Lucky Numbers helps us to recognize how numbers have played a significant role in our lives, and to gain insight into our partner's lives in a surprisingly profound and unusual way.

How to Play:

MAIN ROOM:

- Invite participants to think about 3 different sets of numbers that are significant to them for any reason that they are willing to share (any number except your current age).
- Each person writes their name at the top of the paper and then below writes their three sets of numbers separated by a dash.
- Do a demonstration where you share your own page with your significant numbers, having the group guess their meaning first, and then explaining what's important about these numbers for you.
- Explain that we will move into breakout rooms and each person take a turn showing the group their numbers, allowing the other group members to guess the significance of each number for about 1 minute.

Then the person sharing should share the true meaning or story behind each of their numbers for a total of 2 minutes.

BREAKOUT ROOMS:

- Divide participants into groups of 4 for 10 minutes with a 30 second buffer. As the host broadcast an announcement to switch partners every 3 minutes.

MAIN ROOM:

- Have everyone hold up their numbers for a group photo!
